VENTURE FINANCE ASSESSMENT AND CONSULT

You know you need investment, but do you know what you don't know?

- The What are investors looking for?
- Why are other startups attracting investment but not yours?
- What documents and proofs do you need to convert an investor?
- Are you using your valuable time and resources in the most productive way?
- Where are you now on the path to investor readiness?

The INVESTMENT OXYGEN assessment digs deep into your current situation to discover how your startup can find the air to breathe. The consult process gives you the essential answers so you can plan next steps and make the best use of your time.

THE ASSESSMENT

Where you are now...

We ask you to answer serious, in-depth questions about your current toolkit and resources. We'll make a forensic study of your existing documentation, business model, current venture finance strategies, tactics, your mindset, priorities and action plans. It's detailed and it's tactical – a multi-layered examination of where you really are now.

THE CONSULT

Where you need to be... and how to get there

Then – using all of our expertise and experience – we'll talk directly with you in five strategic consultation calls about what's missing, about your next steps, and the changes you need to make to be closer to investment readiness. You can also ask critical questions as you prepare your startup for investment readiness.
